

PAYE Guidance for employers has moved to GOV.UK

In the June edition of the Employer Bulletin we advised PAYE guidance for employers would be published on GOV.UK from June 2014 and that for a short time guidance would be available on both the HMRC and GOV.UK websites.

Since publishing the PAYE guidance on GOV.UK we have been working to make sure there are no gaps in the guidance we have published, we have reviewed the feedback received and ensured that anyone trying to access a page on the HMRC site which has already moved gets automatically redirected to the new page on GOV.UK. Any pages that are no longer current are still available on the National Archives site.

The PAYE Browse page is currently a 'beta' version which will eventually be accessible via GOV.UK homepage, but in the interim you can access it via the following link <https://www.gov.uk/business-tax/payee> Anyone accessing the HMRC PAYE Home page will be redirected to this new browse page.

We have also listened to feedback on the use of the Employers PAYE and NI Calculators and these tools will remain available.

On 30 September 2014, PAYE guidance for employers fully transitioned to GOV.UK. For latest news and updates on transition sign up to the blogs at <https://transition.blog.gov.uk/>

What we haven't done yet

HMRC's existing online services that you need to sign into such as PAYE online won't be moving as part of this transition. But GOV.UK will be where you access them from and there may be some changes to how they look – such as adding the GOV.UK logo. In the longer term, these services will be completely transformed and will join our forthcoming exemplar services on GOV.UK.

We won't be editing HMRC manuals, notices or other technical content from the HMRC Library. But these will be presented in a format which makes them easier to search, easier to browse, easier to view and easier to print.

At this stage HMRC will still support 'contact us' 'PAYE and NI calculators' and continue to publish forms so the GOV.UK content will link back to HMRC pages for this detail – until a GOV.UK solution is launched.
